Disclaimer: Although the methodology used in this analysis and interpretation is highly accurate, it does not detect small rearrangements and very low-level mosaicism, which are detectable only by molecular methods. Failure to detect an alteration at any locus does not exclude the diagnosis of any of the disorders. In case of any discrepancy with the clinical indications, please inform the lab immediately. No clinical decisions should be made only on the bases of this report. LABASSURE can assist the physician in determining the appropriate test in the context of clinical indications.
